ARTEMARMI

Founded in 1980 by the marble cutter Francesco Testani, today the company is managed by his son Massimiliano, an architect. Artemarmi is the flagship, the group's headquarters and operative base. Marble and research into new materials, artisan processes and new production systems inspire and characterise all Artemarmi operations. This is where team architects, the administrative offices and sales department are all based. In addition to a vast range of blocks and slabs, the show room features numerous marble, granite and quartz collections, along with inspiring furnished interiors. Artemarmi provides consultation services for sector professionals and customers.
